	Variable age-stepped premiums are calculated each year based on the consumer's age and usually increase each year as they get older.
	Level premiums (only applies if the policy was current as at 2 February 2024 or the insurance with the level premium option was transferred from a policy that was current as at 2 February 2024) are calculated based on the sum insured, the consumer's age when they applied for that cover and the applicable premium rate for that age each year. Level premiums have the cost of providing insurance spread out over a number of years. Level premiums start out higher than variable age-stepped premiums but may become lower than variable age-stepped premiums at some point in the future. Level premiums do not increase because of the consumer's age; however, level premiums may still change due to other factors.
	While this is not an exhaustive list, below are some examples of why premiums may change over time:
